THE BATTLE ROYALE

By Mike

As the manager of this department is at present hors-de-combat, and consequently not in humorous condition, this space will be filled in this issue by a detailed account of the last game as viewed by the aforesaid manager. All daubs of local color and embellishments are the author's own and are due directly to personal contact and direct association with the vicissitudes incurred by the Loggers, who came out 2nd best only after much sustained resistance. The figures are probably incorrect, due to the fact, in all probability, that the author neglected to provide himself with necessary equipment for taking notes. On several occasions, however, he was on the verge of taking the Count, as were several others of his colleagues and opponents.

C. P. S. was the 1st to kick off. Pacific's fullback endeavored to return the ball, but tripped over his chin-strap and was carried to earth amid shouts and C. P. S. tacklers. At this juncture the dirty work began. The Badgers, as we will now signify the Pacific men, drew back a short distance, apparently to reconnoiter, but, alas! with hoarse shouts of savage glee they now plunge forward. The scrimmage line is reached. Do they stop? Not by a jugful. The C. P. S. line bends, crumples, sags, falls apart; the Badger halfback is through. Through the line, but not through running. He comes into violent contact with Mr. Kepka, a citizen of Buckley. He halts abruptly. He is down, squirming to extricate himself. Will he elude Mr. Kepka, and Mr. Kepka's associates? Enter Mr. Schwarz, of Fern Hill. Is Mr. Schwarz tired? Apparently so, for he sits down, rudely it seems, upon the Badger. All question of further progress on the latter's part is settled. But he has gained empty-ump yards and will probably continue to do so in the future. And so it proves. The Loggers, although understanding the Minnesota shift are not acquainted with such run-and-hit tactics. Coach McNeal is as helpless as a one-legged man at a Shin-Kicking. To make the party more exciting the Badger Coach elects to play 4back himself. The Loggers, already standing off 11 Badgers, a referee, an umpire and a head-linesman are faced with more handicaps than the soft-shell Crab which elected to play at Leap-frogs with the Dinosaurs. A break! Some buttered-fingered Badger attempts at glomming the ball; he muffs it, it is gobbled up by Mr. Allard, left end, sometimes referred to as a wingman because he is expected to go to heaven. May he continue to play end for the Loggers until that time. . . . Another break . . . but this time it is Horse Blevins' metacarpal bones. The half at last is up. The score is 25 to a swift kick and another half to play.

The second chukker opens auspiciously. The Logger line holds. Their backs gain yardage. A short pass serves to break up the monotony and also Mr. Kelley's features. A line buck draws shouts from the crowd and gore from Mr. Wilson's battered beak. Mr. Shuler, of Seattle, gains 25 yards on a pass, but loses the majority of his wind when brought to earth with a vicious tackle. At this point Mr. Thronson arrives with blood in his eye and immediately declares open season on all Badgers. Messrs. Schwarz and Thorniley engage in animated discussion with umpire, who declares himself ready to do battle. He is the Umpire, remember. Mr. Wilson takes the full count. It is doubtful, for some time, whether Wilson will run for a second term. A pass is attempted from behind the Logger goal. This Mr. Allard maintains in juxtaposition between his thumb and index finger while everybody has heart failure. At last the Loggers score. Mr. Shuler catches a pass on the wing and, shouldering the ball, oozes across the line. Soon it is all over. The Score is 25 to 6, in favor of the Pacific fifteen.

UNIV. GAME IS HOME-COMING WEEK EVENT

TO STAGE A PARADE ON EVE OF BIG GAME

The date for the annual home coming has been set for November 20 and 21. The committee, headed by Tony Arntson, is working very hard on arrangements which are practically completed.

Home-coming is the one celebration on the school calendar that is eagerly awaited by all graduates and students, for it is at this time that all people, formerly connected with the College, are welcomed back by the various organizations to which they had belonged.

The opening event will be the nightshirt parade, Friday night, November 20. The student body will march down the main streets of Tacoma, yelling and advertising the College in any other way that will prove available. The group will enter several theaters and let the people know of the C. P. S.-U. of W. game to be played the following day. Following this exhibition, there will be special street cars to transport the students to the college gym. Short, snappy speeches by football men, and others will be in order at this pep rally. The traditional bonfire will be lighted after the program in the gym.

The big event of the two-day celebration will be the grid classic in the Stadium Saturday afternoon when the Loggers meet the "Purple Tornado" of Washington.

The fraternity and sorority banquets for their alumni will be held in the evening after the game.

The Knights of the Log and the Ladies of the Splinter will have a large part to do in caring for the crowds in the parade and at the game.

ARNTSON HAS CHARGE OF CAPS

The Associated Students of the College of Puget Sound, at a recent meeting decided on the style of a college cap which will be worn on the campus and at college functions, such as games and other activities.

The cap is to be made of maroon and white felt and will be similar to the white caps worn by sailors. The cap will have a close fitting crown and a two-inch brim turned up all around.

About 200 have been ordered, at one dollar each, from the Miller Manufacturing Company of Seattle, and if possible, the caps will be ready by next Monday. This style of cap is being used at present by U. of W., W. S. C., O. A. C., U. of O. and other colleges.

Tony Arntson, who has charge of getting the caps asks that the students pay for the hats when receiving them.

LIT. SOCIETIES HOLD DEBATES NEXT WEEK

PRELIMINARY MEET NEXT WEEK

Four debaters from each literary society will take part in the preliminary inter-society debate to be held at the regular literary meetings next Monday evening, November ninth.

The Amphictyon debaters will be: Bronson Smith, Helen Olsen, Genevieve Bitney and Ensley Llewellyn. Hulda Johnson, Signia Johnson, Constance Thayer and Vincent Villafuerte will represent the Altrurian society.

Philomathean will be represented by: Lucille Notter, Forrest Tibbits, Alice Edwards and Sam Pugh.

Nine of the College faculty will act as judges at this preliminary contest.

Following are the list of rules which will govern both the Monday night debate and the final in December.

The tryouts at 7 p. m., November 9th shall be in the form of a triangle between the three societies, each one sending a negative team to meet the affirmative of the opposing team. The triangular shall go in this order: Altrurian to Amphictyon, Amphictyon to Philomathean, (Continued on page 4, Col. 5)

VARSITY DEBATE TRYOUTS

TEAMS TO BE SELECTED

Tryouts for the varsity debate teams of the College of Puget Sound will be held this Friday evening at 7:30 p. m., in the college auditorium. The meeting is to be open to everyone, and all those interested are invited to attend.

There will be 18 debaters turning out for positions on the varsity, 10 men and 8 women. They are divided into eight teams, four women teams and four men. Those turning out are Minard Fassett, Allison Wetmore, Torrey Smith, Franklin Manning, Jesse Jensen, Paul Soper, Elverton Stark, Arthur Allsworth, Vincente Villafuerte, Bronson Smith, Constance Thayer, Marion Gynn, Maude Hague, Mildred Hawksworth, Jessie Munger, Lillian Berkland, Marvel Wandel, and Alice Gartrell.

Judges for the debate are to be Mr. Prentice of Stadium High; Mr. Hong of Lincoln High; Rev. Paul Reagor; Rev. Herbert B. Rhodes; Dix Rowland, attorney; and Judge Clifford.

The subject for the men's debates is "Resolved: That an amendment to the United States Constitution should be made to give Congress the power to regulate the labor of children under 15 years of age." The subject for the women's debates is "Resolved: That the United States adopt a uniform marriage and divorce law."

From these tryouts the best men and women debaters will be selected to represent the college in its interscholastic debates with other schools. So far only one debate has been scheduled, that with Pacific University on December 11. A challenge for a debate with Pacific College, at Stockton, California, has been received for a women's debate, but it has not been acted upon as yet by the debate manager or coach.

Students of the College of Puget Sound should be especially interested in this college, since Prof. Schilpp, formerly a teacher here, is now a member of the faculty of the southern college. It is also interesting to note that this is the first time Puget Sound has received a debate challenge from so far south. Other debates are being lined up by Helen Olsen, debate manager, and the debate season this year promises to be a very active and successful one.

ALUMNI ASS'N REORGANIZES

The Alumni Association of the College of Puget Sound reorganized last Thursday evening at a meeting held at the College. Important changes were made in the organization itself and the Constitution and by-laws were changed radically.

Previous to this year the Association had as its head an executive secretary. Guy Kennard held this office. The organization at present has a Board of Directors, a president, vice president, secretary-treasurer and auditor. Dr. Thomas J. Gamble was elected President, Thomas A. Swayze as Vice President, Roy L. Sprague as Secretary-Treasurer, and Victor Hedberg as Auditor.

The board of directors is composed of thirteen members, three of whom are ex-officio. The officers named above are on the committee. The ex-officio members are also members of the Board of Trustees of the College.

From Tacoma the following members are on the board: Gamble, Swayze, Sprague, Hedberg, Shackelford, Rowland, Kennard. Paul Hanawalt of Puyallup, Frank Brooks of Sumner, Melvin Olene of Buckley constitute the remainder of the active members of the Board of Directors.

The ex-officio members are: R. E. Cook, principal of Lincoln High School, Harry Gardner of Kent and James E. Milligan of Seattle.

The Alumni Association decided at their last meeting to admit any one who had attended the College of Puget Sound for at least nine months and had not become affiliated with any other institution of higher learning. The Board of Directors met Thursday evening at the College Commons to transact some extremely important business. Details of the meeting will be published in The Trail next issue.

REAGOR SPEAKS TO JOINT "Y" MEETING

Men and Women Hold Meeting Together in Auditorium

A joint meeting of the Y. W. C. A. and the Y. M. C. A. was held Tuesday morning in the College auditorium. An important announcement concerning the men's party to be held at the central Y. M. C. A. building Saturday, November 7, was made. Franklin Manning, the chaplain of the college "Y", then introduced the guest speaker, Rev. Paul Reagor, of the First Christian Church. "Brother Paul," as his more intimate friends know him, is a very popular young minister, and his informal talk was received with much enthusiasm by the many students present.

As an introduction, the speaker painted a vivid word-picture of modern college students with their dreams and ideals living in a world separate from the other parts of the universe. College people exist in a world of romance where idealisms are formed, the strength and value of which depend entirely on the individual.

Rev. Reagor said: "I believe the greatest danger felt in this present life is this: Are we going to be able to preserve the idealism of our lives after we leave the college halls and are subjected to the shocks of the world? It is only in very rare cases that the lives of people are tarnished while in school. It is in the life after our college days when we are subjected to the poundings of the world, that our ideals are shattered. It is then that the keen, fine edge of our beliefs are blunted and dulled, and we are tempted to lower our standards. A person who has lost his ideals, has in a manner, ceased to live.

"The answer to this question," Mr. Reagor continued, "is found in the Christian religion. The presence of God in one's soul keeps his life fresh and pure. If you would be happy, invest your life in the life of some other person, and you will become contented because you have helped someone else."

ELECTION FRIDAY NOON

A special election will be held Friday noon from 12:05 to 12:45 p. m. to accept or reject the Constitutional amendments that have been read as is required during the last two Student Assemblies.

The recommendations for change were made last year by Chester Biesen, chairman of the Constitutional Revision Committee. They do not embody any radical changes in the structure of the document but merely make a few minor revisions in the wording.

DRAMATIC CLUB ORGANIZED

Plan to Give Introductory Program

The Dramatic Club, the newest of the clubs and organizations of the College of Puget Sound, is to be formally introduced to the college at a program of miscellaneous numbers, which is to be given by the club on the night of Friday, November 13, in the college auditorium.

This new club was organized under the supervision of Miss Vaught, dramatic coach, about a month ago, the first meeting being held on September 30. The officers, who were elected at that time, are Paul Soper, president; Jesse Jensen, vice president; Rosemary Widma, secretary; Winifred Gynn, corresponding secretary; and Elverton Stark, treasurer.

The general purposes of the club are to sponsor dramatics in the college and to give its members valuable training along dramatic lines.

The program to be put on by the club is as follows:

Selections by orchestra.
The Lion and the Lady, Jesse Jensen, Rosemary Widman.
Reading, Evetta Hall.

Minuet, Carmelita Estab, Vera Poelle.

Steel and Italian Guitars, Wendell Brown, Anthony Arntson.
Suppressed desires, Paul Soper, Betty Walton, Beatrice Bemiss.
Reading, Winifred Gynn.

Costume Selection, Elizabeth Waller, Jeanette Nielsen, Edith Jones, Constance Thayer, Elverton Stark, Gordon Samuelson, George Firth, Arnot Hendel.

Hats of Other Days, Frances Martin, Audrey Dean Albert, Ruth Monroe, Viola Jordan, Ina Coffman, Hilda Melin, Vella Tolles, Alice Oksness, May Williams, Wilman Zimmerman.

Reading, Sam Pugh.

The Dramatic Club meets every other Wednesday afternoon at 3 p. m. on the stage in the auditorium. All students interested in dramatics are cordially invited to attend the meetings.

Senator Davis to Leave for Extra Session of Senate

DR. MARTIN AND MRS. DIVELEY TO REPLACE HIM

Senator Davis will leave Sunday night to take his place at the special session of the legislature at Olympia to be held for about four weeks. Senator Davis was first elected in 1912 and has served faithfully since then.

Dr. M. H. Marvin will hold his classes during his absence on Tuesdays and Thursdays. He is now chaplain and religious instructor at the Moran School for boys and will be there on other days, when Senator Davis' classes will be held by Mrs. Diveley, the mother of Ruth Diveley. Mrs. Diveley has just completed some graduate work at Boston University.

Dr. Marvin has held the Senator's classes during his absence for several years and is well known at C. P. S. He has an honorary Master of Arts degree from Puget Sound. Our Armistice day talk will be given by him.

Senator Davis is going to re-introduce a bill for a better teachers' employment bureau, for the teaching of the Constitution in all schools and for the increase of an armed criminals fine. He is looking forward to cooperation between the Senate and Governor Hartley this session.

On October 27 he spoke at the Republican club upon Roosevelt; the occasion being the birthday of Roosevelt.

Richard "Dick" Wasson, who graduated in '24, is a good booster for his Alma Mater. Dick is a Public Accountant for Bush and Neff. Dick has been to all the games and is a loyal rooter for C. P. S.

STANFORD vs. WASHINGTON
The Washington "Huskies" take on their old rival, Stanford, tomorrow afternoon in Seattle. The game bids fair to be an interesting one.

Y. M. TO STAGE A BIG MIXER

CITY "Y" BUILDING OPENED

Saturday evening, at the central Y. M. C. A., will be staged the first mixer of this year for college men alone. The program is in charge of the college Y. M. C. A.

One of the oldest traditions of the college, not always carried out in years past, will be renewed Saturday evening.

The wonderful facilities of the downtown "Y" will be thrown open to laboring "studens." The complete athletic equipment, consisting of the finest gymnasium in the Northwest, outfitted from floor to ceiling with mats, bars, nets, games, balls, clubs, and track, and an excellent swimming pool of inlaid marble will be at the disposal of the collegiates.

The program on the gym floor begins at 8 o'clock. It will include basketball, volley ball, hockey, baseball, pushball, races, games, and stunts. An athletic contest will be held to determine the unofficial novice champion of the school. This contest is open to all men who have never won a letter in athletics. The events will be running high jump, running broad jump, 50 yard dash. Here's your chance, fellows, if you have never had the opportunity to make a team.

After the warming-up party on the gym floor, the gang will adjourn to the pool where water polo, races, and fancy diving will be in order. The pool varies in depth from two to ten feet, so fellows who aren't expert swimmers will enjoy themselves as much as the rest.

A short session in the club room followed by refreshments will close the evening. A good time is assured to all. Come and enjoy yourselves. The only requirement for admission is a pair of gym shoes.

HOOP SPORT STARTS HERE

Basketball Call Issued

Coach McNeal has issued the first call of the season for basketball practice. He makes the call in hopes that new men not out for football will turnout and have the advantage that several additional weeks of training will give them.

Training and practice will go on under the supervision of last year's varsity men who are not on the football squad. Coach McNeal will still devote his time to football and believes that the last year men will be able to run any new material through its preliminary work of the season.

If enough interest is shown in the sport this year, the Coach hopes to have a Frosh team. This will give more men a chance to partake in active competition in the sport whereas ordinarily only a few see actual experience on the varsity.

The practice starts Monday afternoon, Nov. 9 Any new material or any man interested in learning the game is expected to turn out. The men are to furnish their own outfits such as suits and shoes, for the first few weeks.

Seabeck Y. M. C. A. Field Council Held at Tacoma

Seabeck Plans Are Being Made

Vital student problems and plans for Seabeck were the subjects discussed at the meeting of the Y. M. C. A. Field Council composed of representatives of several colleges of the northwest, held at the Tacoma Y. M. C. A. last Saturday and Sunday.

Perhaps the most important thing of immediate prominence discussed was the question of the entrance of the United States into the World Court. This matter is to come before Congress December 16 for decision and the aim of both the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. workers in the colleges of the northwest is to promote the study and recommendation of this vital matter by the students themselves.

Another project discussed by a joint council of the Y. M. and Y. (Continued on page 4, Col. 6)

In Our Realm of Society

ALTRURIAN

The Altrurians are looking forward to victory in the battle between societies next Monday evening. We have worked hard on the debate and hope to win while feeling confident of doing so.

"Literature of the Ages" was the subject of the program November 2.

A big crowd is expected and every member and all friends are urged to come and hear the debate.

AMPHICTYON

Amphictyon enjoyed their last program Literature, Monday evening, November 2. The next meeting will be devoted to the Inter-Society Debate preliminary. Every one interested in debate is cordially invited to attend. The subject of the debate will be on whether or not the Public Schools should include the study of the Bible in their curriculums.

KAPPA SIGMA THETA

The Kappa Sigma Theta sorority held their regular meeting Wednesday afternoon at the home of Constance Clark.

The following program was enjoyed: An article on the Roman Theater reviewed by Mildred Forsberg; "Confessions of an Actor," an original paper by Edith Jones; and a piano solo by Ella Purkey.

After the program, important business was discussed. Committee reports were given by Constance Clark and Billy van den Steen.

DELTA ALPHA GAMMA

Delta Alpha Gamma held their postponed Hallowe'en party at Miss Vera Landers' Wednesday, November 4.

During the business meeting the committee on the sorority tea reported. After the regular business was concluded the girls enjoyed a spooky but delightful program, after which a weird and delicious lunch was served by Miss Landers.

LAMBDA SIGMA CHI

On Wednesday afternoon the Lambda Sigma Chi Sorority met at the home of Esther Peterson on 81 West Road. The joint hostesses were Evelyn Skreen and Esther Peterson.

The meeting was in the form of a surprise tea in honor of Kathleen Westwood's birthday. A candle decked cake was presented to the honored guest. A short social hour was enjoyed after which the business was held. An enjoyable program was presented after the meeting.

The Alumnae Tea, given in honor of the active girls, held at the home of Mrs. Joseph Crews proved to be one of the season's most enjoyable affairs. The appointments were in Hallowe'en motif and a program and fortune telling added to the predominating spirit.

On Saturday evening the Alumnae were entertained at a Hallowe'en masquerade given at the home of Miss Ellena Hart. The guests were cleverly arrayed in costume and masquerade and a great deal of merriment was derived from attempting to identify the characters. Decorations as well as entertainment and refreshments were all carried out according to Hallowe'en fashion.

Open Letters---

Trail Editor:

Last month the Trail invited criticism on any subject pertaining to C. P. S. I would like to offer a criticism, as I believe a serious mistake has been made in the policy of scheduling games for C. P. S. Last Saturday our football team went down to defeat at the hands of Pacific University. The game was played at Pacific University's home field, which was a direct advantage to that school. In the last four years that we have played that school, the game has been away from Tacoma. It has been played three times on her home field and the other at Longview, because we could not get her to come here. Those responsible for scheduling games have either been ignorant of the importance in the advantage of home games or lack a certain quality of firmness which should stand up for the rights of the team and the school. Other colleges arrange games with their opponents every alternating year on their home field and this policy is a fair one. It is not just to the school, the public or the team to have games always scheduled on an opponent's home field. Probably if some of these games had been played at home there would not have been four years of defeat at the hands of Pacific. Hoping that the future years bring a more sensible arrangement in the scheduling of games, I am,

Sincerely yours,
HARRY PARKER.

DORM DITTIES

Friday night, Oct. 30, the annual Dormitory Hallowe'en party was held. Among the guests were Mrs. Goop and Mr. Goop, Minnehaha, gay Don Jose, Carmenia, Captain Kidd, a Pilgrim Father, Little Tin Soldier, Mrs. Jiggs and Jackie Coogan. Besides these there were Yama Yamas, clowns, a soldier, and "plain clothes" men.

Fortunes were told, amusing games were played and each person was compelled to stand upon the

VOLUNTEERS ASKED FOR

A part of the Y. M. C. A. yearly program is the deputation work that is carried on through teams selected from both organizations. The teams go out to communities where they put on either a part or a whole evening's program in the church instead of the regular service. The program is composed of both music and talks. Students give short addresses or one may deliver a sermon. The people appreciate this contact with other people and enjoy the novelty of a service led by capable young people.

The work this year is under the charge of Elmer Beckman and Genevieve Stowe. They very much desire that anyone interested in devoting one or two Sunday evenings a month to this work should speak to them about it. They do not want to take the student from his home church but feel that once or twice a month would not be demanding too much time.

Debate Society Giving Musical Concert Soon

WELL KNOWN ARTISTS APPEARING

The annual concert sponsored by Pi Kappa Delta, honorary debate society, is to be held in the college auditorium on Friday, December 4. This concert is held to raise money for debate, and a good turnout is necessary for a successful debate season. The Pi Kappas have arranged an especially good program and are expecting a record crowd.

Archie Smith, a very well-known artist of Seattle will be one of the features of the program. He will be accompanied by Mr. Hanscom.

Miss Adeline Foss, a popular Tacoma pianist, will furnish another interesting part of the program.

Several other features are promised to enhance the concert. The admission will be one dollar for adults and 50 cents for students.

STUDENTS TEACH SUNDAY SCHOOL

Collegians Act as Faculty at Midland

Last year a group of Puget Sound students had the times of their lives when they opened a Sunday School at Midland, on the outskirts of Tacoma. They took over an old and defunct church that had been vacant for some time and after a survey of the surrounding neighborhood for possible material upon which to work, started a regular school. They met each Sunday afternoon and held their programs much like any other Sunday School. Students acted in every capacity from Superintendent Ernst to Organist Bradley.

Professor Hedley of our faculty was in charge and it was under his supervision that the school functioned.

The first meeting saw a large number of children of the neighborhood attending. From the first the idea was successful and the students believe that a great deal of good was accomplished as a result of their interesting experience. The teachers were forced to disband the school when school closed for the summer because many of the faculty planned to leave town for the vacation period.

This year several of the students are starting the school again and hope to have as much success in their endeavors. Anyone wishing to help in conducting the novel Sunday School is welcome. The faculty is made up of College folks. There is room for about ten or twelve students on the faculty as the children are divided up into classes according to their ages.

Professor Hedley is again at the head of the school and will be glad to have anyone who is interested in it to see him.

GOOD CROWD OF ROOTERS ACCOMPANY SQUAD

A serious setback was suffered by the College of Puget Sound football team in their game with Pacific University last Saturday when the Oregon squad walked over the Loggers and ran up a 25 to 6 score.

The game was a revelation to the Loggers in the way that the Pacific interference worked. The Badgers had every department of the game mastered and during the first half were decidedly the superior team. Their style of play was of type that had never been encountered by the local college. The Oregonians used a formation that reminded the spectators of the Minnesota shift. They lined up back of the line and shifted into position, scarcely stopping before they charged and had the Loggers at a loss as to how to meet them. The second half the referee seemed to be more observant of off-side plays and penalized Pacific frequently for being in motion as the ball was snapped.

During the first half of the game the Forest Grove men ran play after play through the Logger line for long gains. Their backfield succeeded in running up yardage at will through the line and around the wings with the aid of their fine interference. The Loggers were not able to advance the ball beyond a few sensational thrusts of the backfield. The Pacific touchdowns were due to consistent gains that netted them two goals each for the first two quarters.

The second half found the Loggers fighting as they have never had to so far this year. The frequent penalties resulting from Pacific's offside plays seemed to slow up the home team and the Sounders opened up a series of long passes that resulted in several long gains that carried the ball near to the Pacific goal during the third quarter. A daring pass from Wilson to Shuler, who was waiting over the goal line gave the Loggers their long waited for score. Blevins failed to kick the goal.

Men who are not out for football and are interested in basketball are asked to turn out in the gym next Monday afternoon, Nov. 9. Bring your own outfits.

The remainder of the game was scoreless for both teams, the Pacific team proving too powerful to allow the lighter opponents to penetrate the line and organizing an air tight defense against the passing game of the Loggers.

No allis are to be forwarded for the loss of the Pacific game. The defeat was hard to take but it was deserved. The Badgers were a fine, smooth interference running machine and simply played the Loggers off their feet. We learned much from the game both in football and on how to accept defeat in a manlike way. Maybe it was well that we lost. Maybe our team will be a better one to meet Whitman and the University, for having lost to Pacific in such a way.

HISTORY OF COLLEGE DEGREE (Continued from last week)

The ceremony of initiation or "inception" by which the candidate was recognized as a master and a member of the teaching guild consisted in the placing of a cap upon his head and a gold ring upon his finger. An open book was given to him and the presenting doctor, one of his former masters, left him with a parental embrace, a kiss and benediction. The young master then gave an exhibition of his ability in an inaugural lecture or disputation. The formalities over, he was expected to banquet his colleagues making presents of gowns or gloves. Later, contributions of money to the society were required, a custom preserved unto this day in our diploma fees.

Sidelights on the Pacific Game

By Prof. Hedley

We left the Kodak at home. A few pictures, however, we brought back to add to our treasury. Here they are:

First, forty-two Loggers arriving in Forest Grove, by auto, flivver, Pullman freight car and afoot. Sixteen thousand eight hundred miles was the aggregate journey—more than half-way around the world, in loyalty to the maroon and white.

Second, the team arriving by bus, and the welcome given by the forty-two—most of whom had said "farewell" at Tacoma only the night before.

Third, a battling Logger team, fighting up-hill against a driving, crushing attack—forced back against the goal line many times, and across it four times, but never giving up, never yielding more than the few yards inevitable in those furious charges.

Fourth, that same team rising to great heights in the second half; hurling back the Pacific offensive; making a great march from their own 44-yard line across the opposing goal—the triumphal progress of a team defeated, but far from early as the thirteenth century the question arose at the University of Paris as to whether the mastership could be conferred upon those who had no intention of teaching it. It was decided in their favor.

The origin of the word "bachelor" is somewhat obscure and opinions differ among the authorities. One of the most plausible is that the word "baccalarius" was derived from the low Latin bacca or (vacca) meaning cow. A baccalarius was thus a cowboy or cowherd serving under a farmer. The term was first applied in France to the youth, garcon, who had finished his apprenticeship and might receive pay as an assistant. As an academic title it is said to have been introduced by Pope Gregory IX in the thirteenth century at the University of Paris. Other authorities give to the origin of the word a feudal and military character. The knight bachelor beaten.

Fifth, forty-two Loggers in the bleachers—lumps in their throats, SIX perhaps, but you'd never have guessed it as you heard them. "Yo, Loggers, on to victory!" ringing out at half time as it rang out at the Union Station when the team left home.

Sixth, a Logger end—heralded far and wide as a pass receiver extraordinary; that end stopped, frustrated, disappointed at every turn; that end at last catching a pass, and going down under a vicious tackle that bade fair to put him out for keeps; that end staggering to his feet and staying in the lineup; that same end at last reaching in among three Pacific men for the ball which meant a touchdown worth more than all those scored against B. C. or Linfield.

Seventh, Logger cars going home; pennants waving; pom-poms bristling; hearts disappointed over the score, but proud of the team and the school; and the echoes floating back, as Forest Grove was left behind.

"All hail to Alma Mater, The best that can be found!"

(chevalier bachelor) was the lowest order of knight. The small estate which enabled him to appear in arms was termed a "baccalare." Hence the term baccalarius came to be applied to the lowest of academic ranks. The chaplet of laurel, baccalauri, with which the victorious contestants were crowned in ancient days and even down to the founding of the universities has also been mentioned as the origin of this title, but the theory is discredited by many scholars.

By the middle of the fifteenth century the three chief grades of degrees had become differentiated much as they are today. The use of "master" was reserved for the faculties of arts and theology, and "doctor" for the faculties of law and medicine. Later the master's degree appears to have been confined to arts alone while the faculty of theology also decorated its graduates.

RECEIVER OF DEGREE IS PLEASED

The following letter was received from a former student of the College who has been awarded the degree of Doctor of Divinity:

Dear Dr. Todd:

One day in the early part of August when the Pacific Advocate had arrived, Mrs. Pflaum was sitting here in the office reading the report of the commencement of Puget Sound when all of a sudden she said, "Well, what do you know about this?" I said that I did not know and that if she would read I might know. Then she read the report that the college trustees had elected me to the degree of Doctor of Divinity together with my old time friend and school mate Mark Freeman.

I need not tell you that I was surprised for I did not expect such a thing to happen. Also, I need not tell you that I was pleased, for, to me it is the manifestation of confidence that my Alma Mater has in me. I trust that my life and work will be such that I may never be counted unworthy of the possession of the degree conferred upon me. I wish to thank you and the committee on degrees for the unmerited honor you do me.

Sincerely yours,

W. O. PFLAUM.

Mr. Pflaum is Director of a school in Buenos Aires, South America. He is still vitally interested in the college and all that it does.

Last spring at Commencement, our college awarded him the Degree of Divinity, for which he is very happy.

Bearing a formal invitation to William Howard Taft, former Senator Albert J. Beveridge and Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador, to attend the dedication of the new law building of the University of Southern California, President Rufus B. von KleinSmid of the University of Southern California will leave for Washington, D. C., early in November.

The building will be completed and ready for use next month but the formal dedication will not take place until April 1 of next year.

WE'RE NOT DONE FOR YET!

For some reason or other the enthusiasm that up to this week has been current around school on our football achievements has suddenly taken an abrupt slump. Is it possible that because we lost a game, the student body has given up faith in the team and has lost its pep and enthusiasm over the sport?

Those who saw the game Saturday can assure you that our team achieved something down at Forest Grove that is worthy of your pride. They succeeded in making a team that was playing better football than they did throughout the game fight for every inch of the four touchdowns. It is generally conceded that Pacific played the better football, at least during the first half. And yet our men battered and pounded at that wonderful interference and never once quit in their trying. That is all we can ask of them. In our previous games we have been accused of not deserving credit for winning. We did not have the competition or were lucky or some other reason was advanced. Now we can stand up and honestly say that our showing was worthy of credit even in our defeat.

The rooters who accompanied the team are to be commended for their pep and loyalty. They backed the team to the last ditch, and like the team, never once quit.

Never trouble another to do for you what you can do for yourself.

THE WORLD COURT

The World Court question is one of the most popular ones for debate this year. Colleges, high schools and debating societies all over the country are preparing to make it the point of contention and attempt to find the public's opinion and views and also to put both sides of the question before everyone.

It is known that the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. organizations will sponsor the movement to the best of their ability. Civic organizations interested in national and international welfare will do something about the matter also. Their aim is to influence Congress by showing the true opinion of the people to that body.

Two magazines are planning to take a vote among students of the country. In this way they hope to find what a thinking type of people have for their opinion. President Coolidge has expressed himself in favor of placing the World Court problem and the different peace plans before everyone possible.

SERIOUSITIES

We recognize in man physical differences and give him the privilege of having them because they cannot be prevented. For the same reason, why not give man the privilege of differing in opinion from us. There will be mental differences just as long as there are physical differences. A little kindly understanding in this regard will prevent a vast amount of controversy.

It is a hard saying but true, that honor cannot be legislated into a group in which honor does not exist by choice. The honor of no individual will rise higher than his desire to be honorable.

The battle of life calls for the keenest type of thinking. A college is a place in which to find how to think. Do not let the professors think for you; do it yourself.

When team-work is so often spoken of in athletics, it is well to think of the team-work which should impel every student to labor that the college as a whole might advance scholastically.

An orderly mind is obtained by the same method an orderly desk is, by taking time to put "things" in the right places.

Mistakes are but the stepping stones to success. They are an impediment only when the same ones are repeated.

Cheating marks the pathway to wasted lives.

"Every man for himself" is more applicable in the class room than where it has hitherto been applied.

There Are Others---

The professor had asked time and again for the students to put more personal touch in their themes, so one of the papers which he received ended thus:

"Well, professor, how are the wife and kiddies; and, by the way, before I forget it, could you lend me five dollars."

Why You Need This Guide

"It is safe to say that failure to guide and direct study is the weak point in the whole educational machine. Prof. G. M. Whipple, U. of Michigan.

"The successful men in college do not seem to be very happy. Most of them, especially the athletes are overworked." Prof. H. S. Canby, Yale.

"Misdirected labor, though honest and well intentioned may lead to naught. Among the most important things for the student to learn is how to study. Without knowledge of this his labor may be largely in vain." Prof. G. F. Swain, M. I. T.

"To students who have never learnt 'How to Study,' work is very often a chastisement, a flagellation, and an insuperable obstacle to contentment." Prof. A. Inglis, Harvard.

"HOW TO STUDY" will show you how to avoid all misdirected effort. Get a good start and make this year a highly successful one by sending for this hand-book and guide NOW.

W. C. A. was the matter of the promotion of the Student Friendship Fund, a campaign for which will be made either in early December or in January. The responsibility for this particular project will rest on a committee from this college composed of Martha Ann Wilson and Harold Huseby.

While no definite date was decided upon for the next Y. M. C. A. Seabeck conference it is most probable that the dates will be June 12 to 20 inclusive, 1925.

The institutions and their representatives at the Field Council were: Gooding College, Michael Throckmorton; U. of Idaho, George Waters; U. of Oregon, E. W. Warrington; Linfield, James Howard; Willamette, Ross Anderson; O. A. C., Harry Hart; W. S. C., Jess Wyant; U. of Washington, Wendell Millman; College of Puget Sound, Harold Huseby.

George Cole, State Student Secretary and Gale Seaman, Regional Student Secretary for the National Y. M. C. A. attended the meeting in an advisory capacity.

adviser for the club. Other faculty advisers who were present were Prof. Hanawalt, and Dean Henry. Dr. Martin was the honored guest of the evening. The meeting was held primarily for the purpose of revising the club's constitution. The professors took an active part in the revision process, and offered many fine ideas. At the close of the meeting a very enjoyable lunch was served by Mrs. McMillin.

In an isolated region, almost inaccessible in winter, this 6500 h.p. hydro-electric plant located on the Deerfield River in New England, starts, protects, and stops itself.

A Self-Starting Power Plant

Dawn—the slumbering city awakens and calls for electric current. Many miles away the call is answered. A penstock opens automatically, releasing impounded waters; a water turbine goes to work, driving a generator; and electric current is soon flowing through wires over the many miles to the city. This plant starts and runs itself.

Power plants with automatic control are now installed on isolated mountain streams. Starting and stopping, generating to a set capacity, shutting down for hot bearings and windings, gauging available water supply, they run themselves with uncanny precision.

Thus another milestone has been reached in the generation of electric power. And with present-day achievements in power transmission, electricity generated anywhere may be applied everywhere.

The non-technical graduate need not know where electricity comes from—nor even how it works. But he should know what electricity can do for him no matter what vocation he selects.

The General Electric Company has developed generating and transmitting equipment step by step with the demand for electric power. Already electricity at 220,000 volts is transmitted over a distance of 270 miles. And G-E engineers, ever looking forward, are now experimenting with voltages exceeding a million.

A new series of G-E advertisements showing what electricity is doing in many fields will be sent on request. Ask for booklet GEK-1.
